THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE NAMED ASSOCIAtion are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located, adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society on which College buildings are to be at once erected. The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street, lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone's throw of ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

The tract will require little or no grading there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be safe to build without any change of grade It commands a

Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon

The Rev. E. Thomas, D D.,

Is President of the Association, Lester L. Robinson formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas H. Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary

Four lots, 25x120 feet each, constitute a share costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $20 has been made.

The Mines of South Boise

A letter from Rocky Bar to the Boise Statesman dated April 23d, contains the following

Our mines in Alturas are not merely quartz, but we have extensive placer mines, some of which are now being worked most profitably But the great portion of the placer mines yet discovered are what might be termed "China diggings," and will pay from two to ten dollars per day, and average from four to six To particularize some of these diggings nearly the whole of Feather river and its contiguous bars, the bars at mouth of Feather river known as Junction bars, and many of the bars of South Boise river Then there are many gulches putting into Feather river There are numerous gulches and bars around and near Steel creek, Bear creek, and Red Warrior From Goodrich's up to Atlanta City, on the Middle Boise, a distance of thirty miles or more, there are numerous bars and gulches, and the river itself will pay for working the most if not the whole of the way At the mouth of the Yuba there are some immense bars, then the Yuba river itself with Grouse creek and numerous branches There are numerous gulches scattered around and among the quartz ledges of the Yuba All of the above have been prospected and worked They were found to be four and six dollar diggings—not enough to pay white men at present prices, but would afford profitable employment for several thousand Chinamen for several years Scattered among these are a few rich ones that pay white men well. There are a large number of such rich claims in and about Happy Camp, some on the Red Warrior, and some in and around Yuba. All through the foot-hills on the right side of Middle Boise, near John Savier's, rich diggings are found, but have water only for a short time in the spring, Savier has been rocking out six and seven dollars per day all winter Water is very abundant for nearly all the above diggings All these are known to exist. Prospecting would greatly extend their area So here is a good chance for John Chinaman He can mine here as long as in Idaho basin, the season is the same Chinamen have been mining the whole winter, except a few days with sluices, on Red Warrior In Alturas the Chinaman can find plenty of diggings to suit him, and he will be undisturbed, for all the whites except a few are engaged in quartz, and pay no attention to placer mines So John, come over here where there is a new field open to you for you must be getting crowded in Boise and Owyhee.

THE PROSPECT

The veins and lodes which hold the precious metals are all here yet, but we must have money and skilled labor to get them out But we feel much encouraged at the prospect of obtaining these helps at no distant day, As evidence that the wealth of our mines is being appreciated, I give you an extract from a letter I received from New York, of March 13th "Much machinery will be taken to that camp (Yuba) next summer by New York capitalists, and much money invested in their mines All those things will go to develop our mines and convince outsiders of their inexhaustible wealth The skies begin to look brighter for Alturas, and our quartz mines begin to attract much attention among New Yorkers It has only been within the last eight or ten days that anything has been doing in mining stocks Now there is a healthy revival and very much in favor of Alturas * * * We hear a great deal about the Owyhee mines when at home, but I can assure you that to day their mines do not stand any better in this market than those of South Boise"

We at least stand as well as Owyhee, according to the above This is considerable satisfaction, for Owyhee should stand well, because she is better known on account of her more numerous representatives, and the extra start she got.

EDWIN M STANTON —The New York Herald, in the course of an article on reconstruction, refers in this wise to Secretary Stanton:

From the conditions imposed and the machinery provided in the scheme it may reasonably be expected that unless the ruling white class of the South proceed at once to a close treaty of alliance, offensive and defensive, with their black laboring class, Mr Stanton, the Secretary of War, will reconstruct these ten outside States and bring them in as acquisitions to the Northern radical party He is the master of the situation. Congress, in securing him by law in the Cabinet, has rendered him independent of the President's wishes or objections, and, as he has in this capacity the general superintendence over this work of reconstruction, Mr Stanton, for all practical purposes, over shadows the President himself We know, too, that he is not a man to be trifled with and does not stop at trifles to gain his ends. He is a remarkable man. He combines in himself in no very small degree the peculiar qualities of Carnot, Robespierre, Danton and Talleyrand He can manage efficiently the supplies of an army of a million of men, a revolutionary party, a hostile cabal, a nest of conspirators or a political intrigue From the day after his appointment to the War Office he was the ruling genius of Mr Lincoln's Administration The first convincing exhibition of his force of character and power was in the removal of the popular General McClellan, and we have seen in a later case that even General Sherman, with his great military achievements, could not withstand the withering wrath of Stanton in the matter of a political blunder, McClellan has sought a refuge from his disappointments among the healing waters of Germany and Sherman, it is said, like many other heroes in distress, contemplates a pilgrimage to the Holy Sepulchre, but Stanton still holds his position and is firmly entrenched between the two houses of Congress

THE NEW PURCHASE —The New York Times, speaking of the Russian cession, says

By this accession the United States control the entire Pacific coast for forty degrees of latitude, except the five degrees still held by Great Britain Our coast line on the western side of the continent is nearly twice that we hold on the eastern The main importance of this acquisition grows out of its bearing upon our future trade with Japan, China and the other countries of Eastern Asia The time must come, and that ere long, when this country will control and carry on the great body of that enormous traffic which has never yet failed to enrich the nation which enjoys it Many now living will see the day when the Pacific Ocean will be as thickly studded with ports and cities as the Atlantic is now, and when the Pacific coast will be covered with commercial fleets, exchanging between the Asiatic and American Continents the products of each And it seems inevitable that all that commerce should be American The country cannot fail to appreciate at its full magnitude the importance of this accession Until the Senate has acted upon the treaty we cannot, of course, know its details Reluctant as that body may be to accept even so great a boon as this from the hands of the President and Mr Seward, the sense of the public duty will constrain its ratification

Enthusiastic citizens of Louisville have claimed for that city a population of one hundred and fifty thousand This estimate proves, like all of its class to be an exaggeration A census is now being taken, and the Journal gives the results so far attained

The returns from seven of the twelve wards have been made, and the total population of these seven is stated at only 18 837—an average of 5 518 to the ward If only the same average returns should be made from the five wards as yet unheard from our entire population would appear to be only 66,576 Four, however, of the five to be heard from are very large and populous and will show a much larger average than the seven have done Still the whole result must inevitably be a general disappointment

WILLING TO BE PACIFICATED —The patriotic Nasby is "willing to be pacificated" He is of a mild and forgiving disposition He says

Let us bury the hatchet Let the era of good feelin' be ushered in I was a Confederit. I am yit, but we failed I am willin' to be pacificated Let bygones be bygones I forgive you Give me back my position in the Paymaster's department which I used to hold, and let things be normal agin

The statue of Edward Everett will reach Boston in June, and Mr Lee's gift to the city of a fountain in honor of the discovery of ether, which is to be placed in the Public Garden, will be completed during the summer.

Hard on the Democratic Party

The New York Sun a paper, which, though assuming to be neutral, is decidedly inclined to the Democracy, has the following severe thrust in reference to that party

During the last decade, the Democratic party has been a clog upon the wheels of national improvement It has been in the hands of a class of men who could not appreciate or would not recognize the fact that politics and everything else have undergone great changes within the last century At this time the Democratic leaders opposed the new plan of reconstruction upon the same ground that they opposed coercion of the Southern States at the beginning of the rebellion—that it conflicts with the doctrine of extreme State Rights Clinging to that antiquated idea, these leaders have dragged the party down to its present level, and unless they abandon it, or unless the mass of the party abandon them, which would be much better, the final scene in the Democratic tableau will not long be delayed * * * The people are determined to settle the reconstruction question in such a way that it will stay settled, and the Democratic party is committing political suicide when it interposes the State Rights fallacies to prevent such settlement "

In another article it gives the Democracy some good advice, and some friendly admonitions, which we commend to their attention

"The truth is, that the Democratic party cannot be resuscitated by Convention quackery Such applications may for the moment cause spasmodic twitching of the muscles, but the movement is simply like that which follows the application of an electrical battery to the muscles of a defunct animal It is not poultices, blisters, liniments or ointments that the old party needs It must find the fountain of youth for which Ponce de Leon searched in Florida, and that consists only in a renunciation of the musty, antediluvian dogmas which the the party now cling to, and the espousal of new, liberal, nineteenth century doctrines."

WHEN WOMEN VOTE.—The New York Round Table has the following

When women vote our stump speakers will have need of changes in style What is to be the salutation? "Fellow citizens" is to cold, more over citizen has acquired a masculine limitation so much so that prominent as women were in the French Revolution the distinction of citizen was never lost We suggest "follow creatures;" the sex being already used to creature as a term of endearment The closer the stump orator can bring himself to his audience the better, the formal "ladies and gentlemen" for a beginning would freeze his whole speech to the temperature of a lecture. It will be very necessary to learn, before attempting a political campaign, how women like to be talked to Married men, especially those who have kept well the respect and affections of their wives, will have the advantage In fact the man who has never made love will be good for nothing on the stump To become a master in the art of stump speaking, will need more of an apprenticeship than passing through the lecture room of a professor of rhetoric Teachers of elocution will have to revise their rules, Demosthenes and Cicero and Burke and Webster will cease to be useful models, for what is recorded of their sayings was uttered to influence men, if we could get at how the great lights shone in their private homes, what they said when seeking wives or when soothing wives, that might be of some use to us. Cold logic must be banished from the stump, we shall have to impress that unnamed faculty higher than the reasoning powers which jump to conclusions. Appeals to the spread-eagle and to the memories of our Revolutionary grandsires will no longer serve as staple material; one dash in a speech of love for little children will be worth more than any quantity of veneration for great men, dead or alive.

THE INCOME TAX—IS IT UNCONSTITUTIONAL?—The New York Journal of Commerce is responsible for the following, which we give for what it is worth

We are not a little startled by the assertion made in a communication before us, that the authorities dare not bring the question to a judicial test, and that the writer, "although doing a large business in the city, has never had any trouble from non payment " If he will send his full address as well as his name, we will hand the same to the Assessor of the proper district, and we think a test case would very soon be made. Whether constitutional or not, the income tax will always be the most unequal, inquisitorial, and unpopular of all the exactions for revenue, and we hope will be one of the first repealed, If levied without discrimination, as it should be, if at all, in an equal percentage on every dollar of income from any source, the will of the people would then be fairly tested In that case we do not believe that it would stand another year The plea that it reached men of wealth who cannot be taxed in any other way is simply ridiculous All taxes come at last upon labor. There is no property that is not earned, and all taxation is a lien on labor, and comes out of somebody's earnings, no matter who pays over the money There is a better way than this to produce the same result, and we trust it will ultimately be found

A COPPERHEAD NEGRO —A Washington dispatch to the N Y Tribune says

Information has reached here from a trustworthy source to the effect that the Reconstruction ratification meeting held in Columbia, South Carolina, at which Wade Hampton spoke, turns out to be a farce of the most disgraceful character No freedmen were present of their own accord, with the exception of Beverly Nash, one of his speakers, and a few of his followers, who are known among the colored men generally as "Black Copperheads" Nash's speech was a re petition of former efforts in the same line, and was made at the dictation of certain rebel whites He receives a salary from them, and is employed for no other purpose than to work against the influence of the Radical Union Leagues which are in control of white Unionists and freedmen, who denounce him as a malignant traitor to his race He is a mulatto, and was a witness in the Bureau investigations made by General Scott when Gen Ely was removed from the charge of the Columbia District, at which time he gave testimony in direct contradiction to that of hundreds of other freedmen Since then he has been entirely ignored by his colored brethren and has found consolation in the bosoms of the white rebels

THE NORTH CAROLINA UNION CONVENTION —A Raleigh dispatch of March 29th, says:

A Union Convention, composed in equal numbers of whites and blacks after two days' session adjourned to day The convention adopted the name of "Republican" Resolutions were adopted eulogizing the party which overthrew the rebellion and asserting that it should command the respect of every candid man They declare that Congress is entitled to the thanks of the world for its persistent devotion to human rights as proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence, cordially accept the Congressional plan of reconstruction, and rejoice at the overthrow of the sympathizers with the late rebellion They declare that supreme allegiance is due to the Federal Government and not to the States endorse the Civil Rights bill, and favor impartial suffrage without property qualifications or distinctions of color, praise President Lincoln, favor universal education and demand free speech and free discussion of public matters They pledge themselves to the maintenance of the public credit and invite men of all political persuasions to unite with them in behalf of the principles avowed by the convention Fifty three counties were represented, and the convention was unanimous

OLD FASHIONED —A brother and sister who had not met for fifty five years lately had a reunion dinner near New London Butler county, Ohio The knives and forks used on the occasion were forty eight years old the chairs fifty one years of age, the cups, saucers, plates, etc, thirty years old The turkeys were carved with a knife forty eight years of age, but the fowls themselves, we believe, were not correspondingly venerable

Judge Dickson of Ohio, in a recent letter, says "I once asked Mr Lincoln what was the secret of his power as a public speaker" He answered "I always assume that my audience are wiser than I am, and I say the most sensible things I can to them, and I never found that they did not understand me."

A Russian General of artillery has just died, after depositing £8,000 to remain at interest until the year 1865, the anniversary of the death of the Emperor Alexander I, and then to be given to the author of the best history of that sovereign The sum will then amount to £384,000

A duchess in Paris, whose infant had, when newly born, been sent into the country to nurse, recently sent for the boy, when he was four years old Walking out with the little fellow she was amazed to hear him exclaim "There, mamma is a good house," and running from her into the courtyard he took off his cap and began to sing The unfortunate little duke had been trained by his nurse to beg as a ballad singer

The Lynchburg News states that a revolutionary hero yet survives in the person of Mr James Farmer, who lives in Campbell county, Virginia This patriarch is now in his 106th year, and served in the last campaign of the war He is hale and vigorous, walks about his plantation without assistance, and on frequent occasions of late has mounted his horse and ridden several miles to mill.

During the month of February there were in the United States forty four fires, at each of which the losses were over $20 000 The aggregate losses at those fires were $1,405 000 During January the losses by similar large fires were $1,043,000, so that for the first two months of 1867, the losses have been $5,148,000 Of the large fires during February, eleven were in New York, and three in Philadelphia

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette gives an account of a fatal accident which occurred in Dayton a few days ago, the result of tight lacing A young lady, much given to the practice, caused a hook to be placed in the wall of the room, to which she was in the habit of fastening her corset strings so as to be able to draw them tighter The other day she threw herself too heavily on the strings, and broke a blood vessel, from which she died in a few hours

In Cincinnati there has been established an institution called the Workingmen's Eating House, in which coffee and bread is furnished for five cents, beef steak five cents, soup and bread five cents, milk and bread five cents, three eggs ten cents, corned beef five cents, roast beef five cents, oysters twenty cents, pig's feet ten cents, potatoes five cents, pickles five cents, three crullers five cents, pies ten cents It is claimed that the institution, which is conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association, pays expenses.

Great excitement is now existing in Brandon, Vt, owing to the discovery of the body of a daughter of Mr. Goodenough, buried in her father's cellar The girl had been missing for some time, and it was supposed she had either committed suicide or been accidentally drowned in one of the mill streams or ponds in the vicinity. Mr Goodenough has been arrested and lodged in jail at Rutland, on suspicion of having murdered her, the report being that he wished to get rid of her on account of her being of unsound mind The unfortunate girl was 18 years of age

Says a Paris letter "There is such a superabundance of money seeking investment, the rate of the Bank of France discount and the interest on Treasury bonds is so low, that we should have certainly seen a considerable rise in the rentes this week, had it not been for the fear of a war between Greece and Turkey, in which the Great Powers will be driven to take part The French Government organs are now instructed to represent that France has a perfect understanding with Russia on the subject of advice to be given to the Porte."

The St. Joseph Herald reports the murder and robbery of Mr J W P Doyle, who sold some Chicago man a large lot of cattle in Texas, last fall Mr Doyle received his money at St Joseph, some $8,000, in the First National Bank of that city, and $2,050 in greenbacks With this he started to return to Texas, and was murdered and robbed en route home. The Herald says "it has been ascertained that at least a portion of the drafts have been presented and cashed in New York Mr Doyle was probably followed from this city by parties who knew of his having an amount of money on his person."

THE AIR WE BREATHE —"Malakoff," the Paris correspondent of the New York Times, tells an interesting and frightful story about the quality of the air breathed in theaters and close houses containing a thousand or more persons. A chemist made an analysis of the air breathed by such persons

He carried into a theater at 10 o'clock at night a bottle of ice placed on a plate, and then collected the vapor which rapidly condensed on the outside of the bottle and flowed down on the plate At first the vapor thus collected had the smell, the taste, and, so far as could be determined, every quality belonging to the waters of the most deadly fever marshes Under the microscope this water was at first clear, but soon—that is to say, in a week—was found to be full of animalculae. A little later and these animalculae had grown, and the big ones were seen devouring the little ones Still later on, at the end of two months, the water was thick with animalculae, various forms were seen, and still the work of destruction was going on At last but three hideous monsters were seen—microscopic monsters, of course, since they were contained in a drop of water—and these were still fighting to see which one could devour the other. At the end of three months the water became clear and miasmatic again

AMALGAMATION IN LOUISVILLE —A curious story comes up the river to us from Louisville, which goes to show that after all there is some amalgamation among our friends across the water It appears that some days ago a well dressed lady with a little child came to that city and stopped at one of the first-class hotels At the dinner table she sat down by the side of another lady who recognized her as "a person of color" Lady No 2 was highly indignant and reported lady No 1 to the proprietors of the hotel, who informed the latter that she must leave It was in vain that she offered to pay her bills and comply strictly with the rules of the house it would not do to have a "nigger lady" boarder and she was turned off Now comes the sequel Both ladies were known to another person in the house, who said No 1 was the half sister of No 2 and thought Mrs —— ought not to be so hard upon her sister The ladies are married, we understand, and both consider themselves highly respectable They were both born on the same plantation, had the same father, but one had a white mother, while the mother of the other was unfortunately yellow What a difference it does make, after all how one happens to be born —Cincinnati Commercial

A BULL GONE ON THE TRACK —The Norfolk Journal says that a colored individual, one of the idlers about the market loafing, for something to do, was a day or two ago standing on the railroad track in front of Bixby's corner in that city when a fierce bull, free from restraint came in full career down the road, and a fellow that might have made the victim turn pale and his wool stand on end, bowed his head, caught the poor fellow on his horns and tossed him about twenty feet in the air He lit upon his head and of course was not injured Recovering a perpendicular he looked and saw the bull making for him again but the colored individual lowered his head made a butting rush at the bull, struck him fairly between the eyes and knocked him clear across the street He looked around triumphantly and with a grin said "Golly! I guess I fix dat bull gone Dis old hoss's head a little too hard for de cow catcher" The Journal adds "This is a veritable account. We have no idea any one will doubt it"

IMMIGRATION TO MONTANA —We are agreeably surprised, says the Helena (M T) Herald, to learn from most reliable sources both from the East and the West, that a very large immigration will set in early this spring for Montana The numerous and important new discoveries of placer and quartz mines since the exodus of floating masses last fall is mainly the cause of this

Oregon Affairs at Washington
[Editorial correspondence of the State Journal]

I stated in my last letter that the Senate had refused to support Benjamin Simpson as Indian Agent at the Siletz reservation. A day or two before his rejection a telegram was received here from the leading Union men of Salem, strongly recommending him to Senator Williams as a good Union man, and asking that he might be confirmed But this petition, though it contained reliable names, was not considered a sufficient index of the wishes of the loyal people of Oregon, and Mr Simpson was therefore rejected Two or three days after his rejection, however, another telegram was received earnestly urging that Simpson should be confirmed This dispatch was signed by the Governor of the State the editor of a leading Union journal, a Judge of the Supreme Court, and by some of the county officers and several of the most active and reliable Unionists of Marion and Benton counties. After some consultation our delegation concluded that, although Simpson was not entitled to the place in view of his late conduct, it was, nevertheless, their duty to comply with the wish of so large a number of the most radical and zealous champions of the Union cause Accordingly the vote in the Senate by which he had been rejected was reconsidered, and the President was requested to return the name Simpson was then confirmed by the Senate on the 5th of March

Some time last fall, Lindsay Applegate, Indian Agent at Fort Klamath, was removed by the President, and J H Underwood, Esq., the able and enterprising young lawyer of Eugene City was appointed I believe this removal was made without the knowledge of any of our delegation except Mr. Nesmith, through whose agency it was accomplished; however, I am informed that Mr Underwood declined to accept the position and no other appointment has yet been made

I stated in a former letter that Nesmith procured the appointment of Chadwick for Register of the Land Office at Roseburg I have since learned this was a mistake "Chad" was appointed through the influence of his brother, one of the keepers of the Willard Hotel This is the headquarters of all the politicians, a circumstance which enabled him to get the ear of the President When Kelly resigned J. F. Watson was appointed in his place, on the recommendation and through the influence of Senator Williams, but Mr Watson declined to accept the office, which opened the way for Chadwick When Chadwick was rejected by the Senate, the President, (perhaps by an oversight) sent in the name of John Kelly and he was, of course, confirmed He can appoint a deputy if unable to do the business himself, and thus keep it out of the hands of Copperheads

Mr Dowell will leave for Texas in a day or two and will start for home in about a month either via New York or through Mexico He has got a plug hat and looks so gay that his Oregon friends would hardly recognize him He has succeeded in getting a bill through both houses of Congress to pay about $6 000 of the claims for lost property, which he came to collect, and expects to be able to collect the remainder of these accounts next winter All who have claims which no other man can collect, should turn them over to Dowell immediately He never takes no for an answer, but besieges the Departments and the members of Congress constantly until they consider "discretion the better part of valor," and pay the claims to get rid of the subject

THE HEAD WATERS OF THE AMAZON —An English traveler, Mr. W. Chandles, gives an account of his exploration of the Purus River, one of the affluents of the Amazon, which we find in the London Times, as follows

He was incited to the exploration of the stream by the importance attached to it by the people of Southern Peru and Brazil, as well as by European geographers, who supposed it would form an uninterrupted water communication between the rich provinces of Southern Peru and the Atlantic, via the Amazon. All previous attempts to ascend had been frustrated, not by difficulties in its navigation, but by lack of perseverance and enterprise In 1864 Mr Chandles engaged a small native canoe and a crew of Indians, and ascended the river nearly to its sources, a distance of 1866 miles, finding a good depth of water and no obstacles to navigation for the greater part of the way. It is peopled only by a few tribes of Indians, each speaking a distinct language The banks are formed of alluvial soil, and are covered throughout with dense forests, rich in india rubber trees and other vegetable products of commercial value. The stream, however, was found not to lead to the settled districts of Southern Peru, as had been supposed The Indians met with near the sources had never had communication with white men or civilized tribes, and were ignorant of the use of iron.

In 1865, Mr Chandles undertook a second journey with a view of ascending the Aquiry, the most important southern affluent of the Purus, which he thought might possibly be the navigable river known as the Madre di Dios, flowing from the Andes, east of Cusco He ascended this stream also nearly to its source, finding it to terminate, like the main river, in the midst of track less forests He then attempted to cross by land, and hewed a way through the forest for nine days, but was obliged finally to abandon the attempt Both the Purus and the Aquiry were carefully mapped during both journeys, and Mr Chandles was so determined to lose no opportunity of fixing his position by astronomical observation that on one occasion, when surprised by a rising of the water flooding the sandbanks, the only places on which he could find a tract of open ground, he set off down stream with all the speed the paddlers could muster in order to beat the stream and reach a place where the banks were yet uncovered.

GAIN AND GODLINESS —The New York Christian Advocate, in recording a "revival," adds in italics, as the choicest item in the paragraph, "Brother Hinckle has powerfully touched the consciences of callous sinners, and doubling the list of subscribers to our excellent paper."

Unsettled Ideas

A story is told of a Washington clerk who had been employed for forty years in one of the Departments and who with his family, had never known the independence of a home. During this whole period they had lived at the hotels, and had known nothing of the happiness of domestic seclusion. One day a friend remonstrated with him about his mode of life and expressed his surprise that he did not change it. The reply was "I would, but you know I am only stopping here temporarily!" This describes the case of too many of the people of Oregon. Too many of them imagine that they are "merely stopping here temporarily." Many who have been here fifteen or twenty years, or even longer, still have a lingering idea that they are one day to grow rich and seek homes elsewhere. There are tens of thousands on the Pacific coast who are in eager pursuit of the sudden fortune, intending as soon as they acquire it to go to distant places, perhaps to the homes of their childhood or some enchanting Utopia, and pass their lives in the enjoyment of tranquility and ease. Of course this purpose is never realized, nor would the acquisition of the fortune that is sought for bring all these hopes to a fulfillment. But the result of this restlessness, of this unsettled condition, of this lingering idea that homes here are not permanent, is apparent upon our prosperity. It is an undercurrent that not a little retards the natural growth of the country, preventing as it does many persons from engaging in permanent occupations which promise merely small returns, and leading them to choose idleness rather than these unambitious pursuits, or what is hardly better, stimulating them to engage only in hazardous or chimerical enterprises where the hopes of sudden gain are almost invariably disappointed. Men came out here years ago with the idea of "going back," and not a few of them still believe that they will one day realize their original dream. But why should people who are here desire homes elsewhere? The advantages that exist here are equal, all things considered, to those which can be found in any part of the whole country. A salubrious climate, a fertile soil, a growing commerce, and an absolute certainty that labor in any steady occupation, or investments in any legitimate business will lead to success, are inducements which in these times are not offered in every State or section. Most of the people now here will stay, they must stay, and it would be well if that fact were conclusively settled in all minds. The most of us may as well conclude that we are fastened here and at once banish the idea of "going back" which was brought to this country years ago from the older States. The idea which many entertain that they are only stopping here temporarily, and their consequent disinclination to build homes and identify themselves with the interests and prosperity of the country has been a drawback to the States and Territories of the Pacific, and one of the most serious they have had to encounter.

"Organ" vs. "Organ"

Such seems to be the infirmities of the memory of the editor of the "organ" that he cannot recollect what he has written from week to week, and such is the flexibility of his "principles" that he can take any position in reference to a political question that occasion may seem to require. Though continually involving himself in contradictions, and though every day denying the utterances put forth by himself at some former time, he never has the least trouble about the consistency of of his record. His natural stolidity is an impregnable defense against such an emotion. A case now in point will illustrate his propensity for eating his words whenever such a course is necessary to extricate h[illegible] from difficulty. We stated recently that he had "spent numberless columns in the congenial work of denouncing all who have talked of making treason odious, and had repeatedly grown furious at the mere mention of the idea, that any disgrace can be made to attach to those who rebelled." This statement he has the hardihood to deny. If he will turn back to his issue of the 16th of April last he will find where he published a long editorial severely censuring the Democratic Convention of Washington Territory for admitting in their platform that the secession movement was an "insurrection" or "rebellion." He will find that he there wrote "Every intelligent man knows that these terms are not justified by the facts, or any recognized rule or law." He will also find there a long argument to prove that the Southern people, as they acted under the authority of their States, individually committed no wrong, and that as no crime can be imputed to them, no disgrace can be brought upon them. Again, on the 4th of November last he said that the question whether a citizen was morally bound to adhere to his State or stand by the General Government, "was a question of ethics which every man must decide for himself and a matter of opinion involves no moral turpitude." And further "It is puerile spite and insane malice for a party to attempt to disgrace a conquered foe." Extracts from the same source and to the same purpose might be multiplied endlessly. Yet the person who wrote them now comes forward and plumply denies that he ever made such statements! Why, the "organ" has contained almost nothing else for a year past. If it will confess that its denial of its own record results from feebleness of memory and inability to recollect what it has published, we shall try to be charitable, but if it refuses to make this confession the judgment of every reader must be that its many inconsistencies and self-contradictions are the results of intentional dishonesty.

LINCOLN MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.—The National Lincoln Monument Association has been organized, with Senator Harlan as President, and Hon James M Edmunds as Secretary. Burt Van Horn and Frederick Douglass are the managers on the part of New York, John A Andrew for Massachusetts, Schuyler Colfax for Indiana, Sidney Perham for Maine, Samuel Shellabarger for Ohio, Bishop Simpson for Pennsylvania and James Conness for California. It is proposed to erect a monument in the city of Washington, "commemorative of the great Charter of Emancipation and Universal Liberty in America." Contributions are to be forwarded to General Spinner, United States Treasurer. The sum of one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars has already been collected for a monument to be erected at Lincoln's tomb. This monument, if erected according to the design which has been adopted, will cost $280,000.

WOOLEN MANUFACTURES.—The Bulletin learns that it is the intention of the woolen mills of California to curtail their operations for the present and that about one half of their operating force will be discharged. The cause of this is said to be that the "California market is heavily stocked with Eastern woolen goods, bought in anticipation of a marked decline in gold by dealers who were anxious to realize a profit while the premium was up." California woolen goods have therefore had to contend against unusual competition, and the mills are compelled to curtail production until stocks are reduced. The Bulletin says that without cheap Chinese labor they could not run at all. The depression of this important industrial interest in California will be likely ere long to have an influence on the same interest in Oregon. If it should continue for any great length of time it would seriously affect all classes, and particularly our farmers and manufacturers.

STATE ITEMS

A little boy about ten years old the son of Mr Van[illegible] Syke was drowned in the Coast Fork one day last week. They were crossing the stream in a wagon at a very deep ford when the wagon broke down. Mr V and two rolled to swim to the shore with the child but after struggling till he became convinced that both would be drowned he let go of the little boy and barely saved himself. The body had not been found at last accounts. So says the State Journal.

The editor of the State Journal now in Washington writes as follows to his paper: It is said that the tax case "State of Oregon vs. La[illegible] county" will not be reached in the Supreme Court before fall. I am also informed that the decision of the Nevada case which I mentioned some time ago is so evident that the county will gain the suit. The purported decision published in this [illegible] [illegible] papers was not the opinion of the court as they represented it to be, but was taken from a brief of one of the attorneys in the case and thereby misled some of the oldest lawyers.

BRITISH COLUMBIA AND THE UNITED STATES.—A few days ago we published some extracts from the Victoria Evening News on the annexation question. Since then the Colonist has been discussing the same subject. The last named paper now looks at the matter much more rationally than it did last year when it pronounced the discussion of the subject on the side of annexation to be "treason." After reciting the grievances the Colony has suffered from the home Government, the Colonist goes on to say:

Many of the people sigh for another form of Government so impressed are they with the belief of the failure of the attempt to establish British institutions on the Pacific coast, and since no change could be for the worse, they would welcome annexation to the United States in preference to continuing in a state of poverty and wretchedness. In writing thus we know that we speak the mind of nine out of every ten men in the Colony—men who, after struggling for years to awaken the home Government to a sense of the wrongs under the weight of which we are staggering have at last sat down in despair at the gloomy prospect before them.

After a further recital of grievances, the following statements are made:

The people—disgusted, disheartened and all but ruined—are loud in their expression of a preference for the stars and stripes. The sentiment is heard at every street corner—at social gatherings—in business circles—at the theaters—in the saloons—in all places "where two or three are gathered together," and the feeling is growing and spreading daily. The loyalty, even, of men who have fought to preserve the honor of Old England is seriously shaken, the young men are growing up impressed with the idea that England would be only too glad to get rid of us, and that to become a part of the "Universal Yankee Nation" is our inevitable destiny—our irresistible fate! This state of feeling is the natural result of the manner in which we have been and are being treated by the Mother Country.

The Colonist very sensibly refuses to credit the report that Great Britain is ready to sell British Columbia to the United States:

We are not of the class who believe that the negotiations now going on for the sale of this Colony to the Americans will amount to anything. The British Government—especially a Tory Government—will not sell a foot of the territory it now holds. Were John Bright Premier, with a Radical Ministry, there might be a sale, but there is none to be looked for from a Ministry of which Earl Derby is at the head. We believe, however, that were such a bargain effected, it would result most advantageously to the material and political interests of this Colony. It would make Victoria the half way house of Sitka on the North and San Francisco on the South, it would make our harbor the rendezvous for the whaling fleet, the cheapness of coal would induce manufacturers to establish their factories in our midst and ship their goods in place of, as we are doing, fuel to Oregon or California.

The earnestness of the Victoria papers in advocating annexation shows that the people there are extremely anxious to see this measure consummated. Their chance of having their desire gratified is, however, exceedingly small.

There has been a general scramble for the offices at Walla Walla, and several Democrats disgusted at the rejection of their claims by the Convention, are out as independent candidates. "Old Newell" being a "regular candidate," of course exhorts the faithful, through his paper, to "vote the ticket without scratching."

The negro's new found friends who have been so very assiduously cultivating his good will in the hope of obtaining his vote, are, it would seem, quite likely to be disappointed. The colored Conventions in the South unanimously reject their overtures and declare their purpose to vote against them. Those who have been abasing themselves before the blacks, making them dazzling promises, dining with them and sleeping with them, in order to obtain their votes, seem destined to lose the coveted prize. They have conquered their repulsive feeling against the negro to no purpose. Their expenditure of sympathy for him has been altogether vain. The great expense they have incurred in obtaining deodorizers is so much utterly wasted. The negroes tell these knightly individuals that they cannot have their votes. Doubtless this action will be taken by these disappointed individuals as further and conclusive proof that the negro is not intelligent enough to exercise the right of suffrage. He don't know who his friends are. Certainly not! He is too ignorant to vote unless he will vote a Democratic ticket!

Walla Walla is in the full career of moral advancement. The merchants of that place have agreed to close their places of business on Sundays—after three P M. The Statesman is satisfied with this reform movement, "as the arrangement will afford much needed recreation, and at the same time give purchasers every reasonable convenience." This, certainly, is putting it on high moral grounds.

MRS JANE W BARTLETT wife of Dr Bartlett 82 West 11th street New York, says of the Grover & Baker Machine that "in elasticity of stitch it is decidedly superior over Wheeler & Wilson's in that particular; I don't know about others also increase of motion and simplicity of design. The ability to rip the work when needed is very desirable. I found it so in contrast with Wheeler & Wilson's." Wm Currier & Co Agents 103 Front street Portland.

MR PERRY of this city will continue to receive and forward names to the ASTORIA LOT SALE for a few days longer. The distribution will come off on the 15th.

THE FAMILY DYE COLORS.—Nothing has obtained so wide a reputation nor one more merited than the Family Dye Colors of Howe & Stevens. The colors include every desirable shade and are as fadeless as they are beautiful. Sold by Smith & Davis.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—From and after this day the well known FRENCH LAFAYETTE RESTAURANT will serve a first class table at the reduced price of Seven Dollars per week.

REMEMBER THAT KOHN & FISHEL'S CLOTHING STORE is No 91 Front street in the Store formerly occupied by Messrs Wolf Bros where they continue to sell all kinds of Clothing, Gents Furnishing Goods etc at the lowest possible prices.

SAN FRANCISCO ASSAYING

AND REFINING WORKS,

No. 416 Montgomery Street,
(Successors to Kellogg, Hewston & Company)
CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

Directors:
JOHN PARROTT — CHAS E McLANE,
WM C RALSTON, — A HAYWARD,
LOUIS A. CARNETT.

LOUIS A CARNETT ... President and Manager.
JOHN HEWSTON Jr ... Chemist and Superintendent.

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES
Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion.
Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.
One-eighth of one per cent (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1 600, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS.
Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,600, and one-eighth of one per cent, for all amounts over that sum and one per cent on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS.
On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.
On bullion from $300\frac{1}{2}$@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce.
On bullion from $600\frac{1}{2}$@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce.
On bullion from $750\frac{1}{2}$@$949\frac{1}{2}$ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce.
Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage. But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD.
This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution. But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY EIGHT HOURS.
Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint.
Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates.
Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co's Express.

CHARGES AT U. S BRANCH MINT.
For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution.
For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from $300\frac{1}{2}$@600 parts gold 5 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from $600\frac{1}{2}$@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from $750\frac{1}{2}$@830 parts gold 11 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from $830\frac{1}{2}$@$949\frac{1}{2}$ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce.
The charge for coinage is half of one per cent, and the charge for making fine silver bars the same.
Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost ½ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following par rates to equal the return which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage.
870 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents.
845 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents.
80[illegible] par to equal San Francisco A & R Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents. mh1d2p3m

Wreck of the "W. B. Scranton."—The Okanagan arrived last night from Astoria and Purser Hoyt placed in our possession the following account of the wreck of the bark W. B. Scranton, Captain Paul Corno, from San Francisco to this port. On Sunday morning she attempted to cross the bar at the mouth of the Columbia, and ... the passage, the wind failed her and she drifted ... on to the spit near where the Industry was ... some years ago. She struck about 10 o'clock, ... the weather being entirely calm. The captain's ..., another lady, a passenger, and all the crew, ... a total of fourteen persons, were taken off during the day and evening in a surf-boat, the last ... from the vessel being at 8 o'clock, P. M. The Scranton had on board 810 tons of merchandise for this city, being mostly agricultural goods to Knapp, Burrell & Co., and lime and salt to McCraken, Merrill & Co. Among the goods to Knapp, Burrell & Co., were several ... on the bark's deck. The vessel was insured ... for $9,000. On Monday evening when the Okanagan reached Astoria the Scranton was visible and believed to be not broken, but during Monday night the wind ... and yesterday morning nothing could be seen ... from Astoria. Capt. Corno chartered the schooner Eliza and started down yesterday morning to recover and ascertain if anything could be saved. Every ... else who could obtain any sort of craft, also started for the scene of the wreck.

Since the above was in type, we have received from Mr. Burrell the following letter written at Cape Disappointment, Monday, by Mr. H. H. Stevens:

CAPE DISAPPOINTMENT, W. T., }
MONDAY MORNING, 9 o'clock, A. M., May 6, 1867. }

Messrs. KNAPP, BURRELL & CO.—Gentlemen: The bark Scranton went ashore yesterday about 11 o'clock, A. M., just inside the bar and near where the Industry was lost, with a bar pilot on board, since which time, she has been thumping heavily and will probably go to pieces very long. Many pieces of her keel floated up yesterday, and Capt. Corno thinks she cannot stand it long. Mr. Munson, Light-keeper, on seeing the flag at half-mast on board the bark, immediately, with a crew of ... in the life-boat, boarded the bark and took off Mrs. Corno and Miss Brown—the captain and crew remaining on board with the hope of saving the bark, and just before sundown, last evening, the U. S. schooner Joseph Lane, G. W. Harris, commander, anchored off the bark, in the channel, with the life-boat in tow, and with eight men the life-boat made three successful trips on board the bark, taking off all on board. Captain Corno, ... the life-boat and a large crew have gone down this ... to save what they can. A portion of your ... may be saved. Knowing you to be the ... I thought I would drop you a line ... you the particulars. The bark Scranton cost ... $...,000, and only $9,000 insured. Monday, 10 o'clock, A. M.—The Scranton will be a total wreck. The ... is sinking and flowing in her hold. So reports Conner Martin, who has just returned from the wreck.

U. S. vs I. A. Davenport; defendant appeared and plead not guilty.
U. S. vs D. Farg Aly; demurrer to answer submitted and taken under advisement.

Whitney, Nelson Hoyt, W. A. Scoggin, Ambrose Young, Albert ..., S. S. Neal, R. H. Walker. Verdict against defendant, $2591 21 and interest from June 27th, 1860, at ... per cent. per annum.
Adjourned till 10 A. M. to-morrow.

A HINT TO PORTLAND.—Under the head of "A Hint to Portland," a Dalles correspondent of the Walla Walla ... says:

Portland, claiming to be the emporium of this northwest country, ought to bestir herself. She certainly has ... of means, and three-fourths of the capital of the ... is controlled in that city. In addition to this, she ... a great business houses; but, unfortunately for the whole country, instead of drawing their supplies of ... from the Eastern market, they are content to play second fiddle to San Francisco. At a time when California makes great efforts to wrest a trade from us [Idaho and Montana] which is legitimately ours, it becomes our ... to look for some measure which will have the tendency to repulse our rival. The merchants of Portland should at once inaugurate a system of direct importation. It would fall like a thunderbolt on the people of California. Idaho merchants would find it greatly to their advantage to procure their stock of merchandise in our market; the O. S. N. Co. would regain their carrying trade, and the towns on the Columbia would be equally benefitted. The time has approached when rivalry must ... at home, as we are all in duty bound to co-operate for the purpose of fighting our California rivals. We of the Golden ... will gladly hail Portland as the emporium, provided her citizens effect such arrangements as will relieve us from our present dependence upon San Francisco.

THE LICENSE QUESTION—HOW TO DO IT.—The editor of the Albany Argus has been giving himself to deep and patient investigation of the liquor license question and ... it to his own satisfaction, at least. He suggests an entire revolution in the license question. The liquor seller should be left entirely free by law, and the drinker should be required to procure licenses. He says: "The license should be annual, and the sum should be from $20 to $100. No young man should be allowed a license till he was sixteen, and then until twenty-one only a beer license, at a moderate charge. After twenty-one he could vote, drink and chew tobacco, upon payment of a license; and the same privilege should be extended to strong-minded women." There is sense in that. If drinkers were compelled to buy an annual or quarterly license, or be subject to penalty for drinking, there would be far less of it.

COUNTY COURT—MARQUAM, JUDGE.—The following are the proceedings of the County Court, up to last evening:

Estate of Andrew Christison, deceased; J. A. Strowbridge appointed administrator.
Estate of C. Weiser, H. Zeitfuk, administrator; final account filed and an order entered for publication of notice of such filing.
Estate of S. Kohlberg, I. S. Rosenbaum, special administrator; final account filed and an order entered for publication of notice.
Estate of Thomas E. Byrnes, deceased, Wm. Cree, administrator; same order made as above.
Commissioners hold Court to-day at 10 o'clock A. M., to pass upon certain bills and to consider certain road matters.

PETITION FROM THE COLORED PEOPLE.—A petition was circulating yesterday, in the hands of James Gibbons, colored, and signed by quite a number of the colored people in town, asking the Council to grant them the use of ... of the building on Market Square, as a place for religious worship. There are about a dozen of them who are professors of religion, and they have a minister—Jeremiah Sanderson—late of San Francisco, who is said to be an educated man. They are all adherents of the Methodist Episcopal tenets. It is intended to organize a church, and Bro. Gibbons informed us that they hope to gather into it all the colored people of the ...

THE ASHLAND WOOLEN MILLS.—Capt. J. M. McCall arrived here a day or two since, on business connected with the ... woolen mill at Ashland. He is on a ... of observation among the mills of this valley and ... visit all of them before ordering machinery. The ... Ashland mill is to be what is called a one-sett ..., and as the manufacturing will be on a small scale, the proprietors desire to have the very best machinery ... while. Capt. McCall will thoroughly post himself on ... matters connected with the business, so far as they ... be learned from our mills, and will then report to the stockholders at Ashland.

CONCERT AT OREGON CITY.—Prof J. Gnus, lately of ... and San Francisco, and who is spoken of among musical judges as a very talented pianist, announces a "Grand Vocal and Instrumental Concert" at Oregon City this evening. He will be assisted by Prof. Sedlak and Miss Soledad Tanner, both of whom are popular performers. The selections of music are from Auber, Rossini, Verdi, Ardiri and other celebrated composers. The people of Oregon City will have an opportunity to listen to ... of a high order, and we are sure that no one who loves good music will fail to attend this concert.

THE "MARY MOODY."—A rumor was current in this city a few days since, that the steamer Mary Moody had been blown up on the Pen d'Oreille lake. The Walla Walla Statesman, referring to the same rumor which had reached that place, says, "The mail carrier just in from the Lake, sets this rumor at rest, and says that the steamer met with a slight accident to her machinery which detained her but one day. The steamer has been repaired, and is now making her regular trips."

BUILDING STONE.—The first boat load of stone for the ... front about to be erected by Mrs. Mead opposite Arrigoni's, arrived at the O. S. N. Co's wharf yesterday from Mr. Gruber's quarry on the Clackamas. This quarry is about seven miles from the mouth of the Clackamas river and is said to be very extensive. The stone is exceedingly well adapted to building purposes and is quite easily worked.

... MATCH.—A shooting match has been made between Tom Tucker, who lives out at the Canyon, and George Jones, of East Portland, for $25 a side, and a forfeit of $10 a side is now up in the hands of Joe Webber, at the shooting gallery on Morrison street. The shooting will take place next Saturday, between the hours of two and four o'clock P. M.,—distance, 40 yards, off-hand, or 40 yards at a rest. The grounds are not yet selected.

THE TEAMSTERS' QUESTION.—The teamsters of Walla Walla, being mostly unemployed, lately offered to run their teams to the Dalles at prices not to exceed those charged by the O. S. N. Company's steamers. Still later, on the 20th of April, the merchants held a meeting to consider the ..., and adjourned to meet again last evening. A report and definite action were expected to be had.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Yesterday morning the case of the City vs. Della Delschneider, was brought up. The defendant was charged with obstructing a street by building a fence, shed, etc., therein. The evidence did not prove that the defendant placed the obstructions as charged, and did show that the premises belong to another person. This appearing, the Recorder discharged the de...

STILL ANOTHER OREGON INVENTION.—Mr. Cox, of Josephine county, who is at present in Portland, showed us yesterday a model of Cox & Snyder a self-supporting bridge—an invention of Mr Cox's. It consists merely of a dozen or so of sticks, from a foot to two feet in length, which, interlocked in a peculiar manner, form an arch of great strength and may be made of any desired extension. There is no framing about any of the pieces, except to fit the meeting ends of the stringers. The principle seems a good one and the construction is certainly cheap. A patent will be applied for immediately through the agency of Albert M. Snyder.

SELLING LIQUOR TO INDIANS.—A complaint was lodged in the Recorder's Court yesterday, against Spokan Jim, an Indian who lives near or in the city, charging him with selling liquor to Indians. About the same time Indian Jo lodged a complaint of the same nature against Wm Smith, colored. Smith protests entire innocence, but he was required to give bail for his appearance this morning, when both charges will be examined.

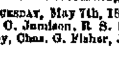

NEW DIGGINGS.—Several men were yesterday panning out the debris from the interior of the building lately occupied by the bank of British Columbia, to secure the gold dust wasted from time to time in handling. After panning out about two bushels of the debris they and out far from $5. We left ye honest miner vigorously panning for more.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHT.—Arrived per steamer Alert from Oregon City, Tuesday, May 7th: 68 boxes apples, 22 hf bbls pickled shoulders, 8 hf bbls eggs, 16 boxes do, 142 bags feed, 3,072 qr sks flour, 41 gunnies bacon, and a lot of hardwood lumber.

AN ANTIDOTE FOR POISON.
THE PAIN KILLER.—Rev. T. Allen, writing from Tavoy, Burmah, says: "Within the past four years I have used and disposed of about five hundred bottles, but am now out. Please send me a fresh supply as soon as you can—say two hundred bottles. I dare not be without it myself, and there are endless calls for it, both by Burmans and Karens. I always take it with me into the jungles, and have frequent occasion to use it, both on myself and others. One night, while sleeping in an open Zayate, I was awoke by a most excruciating pain in my foot. On examination, I found I had been bitten by a centipede. I immediately applied the Pain Killer, and found instant relief. In less than an hour I was again asleep."
Rev. Mr. Hibbard, writing from Burmah to his father, says: "I have used Davis' Pain Killer for coughs, colds, summer complaints, burns, and for the sting of scorpions, with uniform success. We always keep it where we can lay our hands on it in the dark, if need be." ap20dtc

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Make Home Beautiful

Make your home beautiful—bring t it flowers;
Plant them around you to bud and to bloom;
Let them gi lift t y ur loneliest l urs—
Let them bring lif to enliven your gloom
Make y ur wo w rl —ne that ove has s rowed
Of music and sunshin and gold Summer air;
A home w rld wi se f refuel care never has furrow d
And whose cheek of bright be uty will ever be fair.

Make your home beautiful—weave round its portal
Wreathes of the jessamine and delicate sprays
Of red fruits t woe ibine, with gay immortelle
That I lessons its I rights w rover it strays,
Gather the blossoms too— no little flower
Varied vert ena, or sweet mignonette,
Still may bring bl s in to your desolate bower
Still may be something to love and to pet

Make you home beautiful—gather the roses
That hoar t up the sunshine with exquisite art
Perchance they may p ur, as your darkness closes,
That soft Summer sunshin d n into your heart!
If you can I so O make it an Eden
Of beauty and gla! ness! remember tis wise
'Twill teach you to l ng for that home you are needing,
That heaven of beauty beyond the blue skies

Make your home beautiful, sure 'tis a duty;
Call up your little ones—teach them to walk
Hand in hand with the wandering angel of beauty;
Encourage their spirits with nature to talk
Gather them round you, and let them be learning
Lessons that drop fr m the delicate wings
Of the birds and the butterfly—ever returning
To Him who has made all these beautiful things

Make home a hive where all beautiful feelings
Cluster like bees and their honey dew bring,
Make it a temple of holy revealings,
And love its bright angels with "shadowy wing"
Then shall it be when afar on life's billows,
Wherever your tempest tossed children are flung,
They will long for the shades of the home-weeping willow,
And sing the sweet song which their mother had sung

The Death of Dr Livingstone.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1867.

The following official account of the death of Dr Livingstone has been received by the State Department

CONSULATE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, ISLAND OF ZANZIBAR, Dec 9, 1866

SIR It becomes my painful duty to report the death of Dr David Livingstone, the celebrated African explorer, who, as I wrote under date of May 9, 1866, left here on the 9th of March last for the exploration of the river Rovuma, and that region between the great lakes of Central Africa, of which, as yet, but little is known. The sad intelligence was received here on the 5th inst, by the arrival of several native members of the expedition, from whom but little of importance could be elicited save the fact of Dr. Livingstone's death

I am indebted to Dr Kirk, H. B M Vice Consul, and formerly a member of the Livingstone Zambesi expedition, for the following particulars of this sad event, and as his accompanying remarks may prove interesting, I cannot do better than to give them in his own words

The return of several of the Johanna men who accompanied Dr. L. has made it certain that that distinguished traveller has fallen, and with him half of his native followers His present expedition may be briefly stated to have been an attempt to unite the magnificent discoveries of late years and determine the limits and connections of the three great lakes which reach from 14 deg south to 2 deg north latitude, and flowing to the sea by the Zambesi and Nile at the two extremities, but with an intermediate space, yet unknown. Such was the geographical problem. But Dr. L. had in view to affect the present enormous African slave trade, though pioneering the way which might lead to lawful commerce To have consolidated in one the successive discoveries achieved by himself on the Nyassa; Burton, on the Tanganika, Speke and Grant on the Victoria, and Baker on the Albert Nyanza, would have been a fitting triumph for one who was the first to cross the African continent within the tropical zone; but these hopes have been wrecked by his untimely death We last heard of Dr. Livingstone at "N'Doude," at the confluence of the Novuma and Niende. Here he met with kindness, but found the land desolated by the slave traders supplying the market of Zanzibar. We have information that he proceeded further west to Mataka, a Miao chief, who gave presents of cattle and food. At this point the Indian Sepoys remained behind and have since returned to Zanzibar From Mataka to a lake was eight days' march On crossing a wide water in Canoes, they followed the border of the lake for several days, and thus inland They were suddenly attacked in a bush country, about nine A. M., by a band of Mavite. Dr L killed the most forward of the attacking ... was surrounded and cut down by one ... axe, which cut half through his ... we have no details, for those ... he first to flee Almost all ... were killed, although they ... considerable with their rifles ... out six weeks ago, or about October ... an see how very meagre our ... men with a personal knowledge ... surrounding country, at least a ... scene of this sad affair, ... that very tribe of Zulus ... Mazitos, &c, it has been ... as yet to elicit anything ... simplicity of the few who ... as to where the tragedy took place ... the west of the Nyassa is certain, ... the district we had already explored or farther to the north, is still uncertain.

That Dr Livingstone was killed by the same Mavites as he and I were among together is certain. They would have attacked us then if they had dared, but we were too strong for them With such enemies it comes to be a question of numbers as well as equipment The death of a few will not break their charge, and a small party taken unawares have no chance. Only one of the party saw Dr Livingstone fall, but they buried his body at three P. M, when the Mavites had gone They took off all the baggage and also the upper clothing of the dead body, so that not even a note remains by which to trace the route.

It is hardly probable that any further particulars will ever be obtained in regard to Dr Livingstone's death, as the Mavite are a wandering people, and it will be quite impossible to ascertain the particular tribe by whom Dr L's party were attacked I have the honor to be, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

EDWARD D ROPES,
United States Consul

HON. H W SEWARD, Sec'y of State

THE RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD —A London journal, the Cosmopolitan, says "The young Lord Belgrave, grandson of the Marquis of Westminster, if he lives to inherit his patrimony, will be the richest man in the world When what is now the fashionable section of London, known as Belgravia, was but a sheep farm, the first Marquis was leasing lots at ninety-nine years. By the time the heir to the Westminster estates attains his majority all these leases will elapse thereby adding an almost incomputable amount of ground rent to the estate The present income of the property is said to be £1,000 a day, ten years hence it will be ten or twenty times this amount! The present Marquis of Westminster is about seventy-two years of age His eldest son, the Earl of Grosvenor, is about forty seven, and his eldest son the young Lord Belgrave is about thirteen By intermarriage this colossal fortune has not only been kept in the family, but multiplied in arithmetical ration. The Marquis of Westminster married the Lady Elizabeth Mary Leveson Gower, second daughter of the first Duke of Sutherland Earl Grosvenor married Lady Constance Leveson Gower, daughter of the second Duke of Sutherland Rich as those people are, we do not suppose that either the Grosvenor sons or daughters will be likely to 'marry for love,' unless there is plenty of wealth to back it."

A SUBTERRANEAN CITY DISCOVERED —A subterranean city has been discovered in the vicinity of Fort No 1, on the Sir Larya river Kirghisan settlers having undertaken to furnish bricks to Major Yuni, the Russian commandant of the fort, brought him such curious specimens of the required article that he was led to inquire whence they had procured them On their taking him to the place, the existence of a subterranean city of vast extent was soon apparent to the astonished Russians The place seems to have been originally built on the Lake Aral, but by the receding of the water is now some distance from its shores and in the course of time has been covered up by sand and alluvial deposits Whether it belongs to the ancient Partian, or, comparatively speaking, modern Cshungarian period of Turanian history, has not yet been discovered A guard has been stationed on the spot to protect the mysterious city from depredations, until the arrival of further orders from the Governor of Orenburg

THE WILD GIRL OF BOMBAY —Two English women, not long since, called at the studio of Randolph Rogers in Rome and in the course of the survey of the rooms one of them asked the name of a statue before which she and her companion had paused in evident admiration of its beauty Rogers politely informed his questioner that the figure was called "Nydia, the Blind Girl of Pompeii," when she turned to her companion and repeated the information that the statue was that of "Nubia, the Wild Girl of Bombay"

BUT TWO THINGS LEFT —The rebel General Mahone, referring to the Reconstruction law, says there are but two things left for the South to do—fight or surrender; and since it has neither men, money, guns, ships or anything with which to carry on war he thinks it plain that submission to the demand of the conqueror must ensue.

The Last Days of Artemus Ward

PERSONAL NOTES FROM A FRIEND WHO LEFT HIM LATE IN DECEMBER.

[From the Nashville Banner]

I parted from Artemus Ward in London on the evening of the 21st of last December He had spent the day with me, and accompanied by Mr Arthur Sketchly who had dropped in after dinner, left about 5 o clock for his lecture room in Egyptian Hall At the time he was too feeble to walk alone, and was continually struggling to breathe with freedom His surgeon had positively interdicted the use of wine or liquor, but he drank quantities of water eating little and taking no exercise at all Yet he continued to keep up appearances before the crowds that flocked to hear him, and even in London his critical state of health was not suspected

Early in September I had found him quietly but regularly and industriously arranging for his debut He had preceded me about six weeks, and was already making very decided advances toward those interior circles of the press, literature, and society at large, which are almost essential to the success of a new comer in London Mr Chas Reade and Mr Andrew Haliday were zealous friends, and to the introduction of the latter he was indebted for his early admission to the Savage Club, the body corporate of the younger members of London journalism Here he was at home His sprightly manners, engaging disposition, and well directed hospitality—tact and discernment being among his most striking developments—soon won him a whole corps of faithful friends and backers distributed throughout the newspapers and periodicals of the metropolis Thus his success was assured from the first On the raw November evening when he "opened" at Egyptian Hall, the room was crowded with an audience of literary men and women, great and small from Swinburne and Edmund Yates to the penny trumpeters and reporters of the morning papers The next day every paper in London, except the Times, contained a glowing account and four days after, the Times, seeing how the wind blew, came out with a column of ardent eulogy From this time forward each evening was an ovation Seats were engaged for a week in advance Up and down Picadilly from St James Church to St James street, carriages bearing the first arms in the kingdom, were thronged night after night, and on the evening of the 21st of December six weeks after, there was no falling off. The success was complete It was truly, in theatrical parlance, "immense"

All this while the poor author of the sport was dying by inches The draught upon his animal spirit the bodily fatigue of "getting himself up to it," "the 'the damnable iteration'" of the lecture itself, wore him out George, a' lad whom he had brought from America, had finally to lift him about his room like a child His quarters (54 Picadilly) were just opposite the hall, but frequently he could not go backward and forward without assistance. It was painful in the extreme to see the man who had undergone these tortures behind the curtain, step lightly before the audience amid a burst of merriment, and for more than an hour sustaining the part of jester, tossing his cap and jingling his bells, a very death's head, as it proved to be, for the amusement of the company.

His old good nature forsook him He became excessively nervous and fretful. The fog, he said, felt like a damp pall that was surely wrapping him in At one of his entertainments he made a grim, half comic allusion to this, "but," said he, referring to it, "it was not a success" The English are terribly scary about death. I'll have to give it up."

He did not continue his contributions to Punch after he began to appear before the public, and the discontinuance was made the occasion of some ill-natured remarks in one or two American papers. As these remarks have been more generally credited than the fact would justify, I may be pardoned a particular account of the whole transaction with Messrs Badbury and Evans, the publishers of the English Charivari. The proposal was made by them without his solicitation, and the price was named at fifteen guineas a letter. He asked permission to duplicate the arrangement with some New York periodicals, so as to secure his copyright at home. This, however, they refused "Our aim," said they, "in making the engagement has reference to our own circulation in America, which exceeds 37,000 copies weekly." I suggested to Ward that he enter his book, "Artemus in London" in advance, and he did write Oakley Hall to that effect. Before he received an answer from Hall, he got Carleton's advertisement announcing the book. Considering this a piratical design on the part of Carleton, he wrote that enterprising publisher a very savage letter, but the matter was soon cleared up to his entire satisfaction, for he said just before we parted, "It was all a mistake about Carleton I did him great injustice and mean to ask his pardon. He has behaved handsomely to me." This was more than his English publisher, Hutton, a very low fellow, did, or proposed to do Meanwhile the letters appeared in the Punch, and whatever may be said of them on this side of the Atlantic, their success in England was positive They were more remarked in literary circles than any other current matter There was hardly a club meeting or dinner party in which they were not discussed There was something so grotesque in the idea of this ruthless Yankee poking in among the reverend antiquities of Britain, that the beef-eating British themselves could not restrain their laughter and took his joke in excellent part The letters on the "Tower" and "Chawsir" were palpable hits, and it was generally argued that Punch had contained nothing better since the days of Yellowplush This opinion was not confined to the canaille. It was shared by the greatest "buffers" of the reviews and the gayest leaders of society. He had intended to remain in London while his welcome lasted, and when he perceived a falling off in his audience, meant to close his season and go to the continent His receipts averaged about sixty guineas ($300) a night, and his expenses were not $50. "This, mind you," he used to say, "is in very hard cash, an article superior even to that of my friend, Mr Charles Reade"

His idea was to lay aside out of his earnings enough to make him independent, and then to give up "this mountebank business," as he called it. He had great respect for culture and literary respectability, and thought that if he could get time and freedom from anxiety, he might do something "in the high country line," He had a humorous novel in view, and a series of more aspiring comic essays than any he had ever attempted, Very often he alluded to the opening for an American magazine, "not quite so recondite as the Atlantic, nor so loose as Harper's" In a word, his mind was beginning to soar above the mere showman and merry maker, But not his manners Excepting the nervous worry of ill health, he was the same careless, kind hearted, unaffected gentleman of old, loving as a girl and liberal as a noble He showed me his little day book, in which were noted down over a hundred pounds ($500) lent out in small sums to indigent Americans "Why," said I, "you will never get half of it back!" "Of course not," said he, "but do you think I can afford to have a lot of loose fellows blackguarding me at home because I wouldn't let them have a sovereign or so to run on?"

He received many lucrative offers from publishers in London. Several of this year's annuals contain sketches some of them anonymous, written by him, for all of which he was handsomely paid He wrote for Fun, the editor of which, Mr Tom Hood, son of the great humorist, was an intimate friend as well as for Punch, but his contributions to the former were printed without his signature His receipts from his lectures were not less than a thousand dollars (in gold) a week, and his outside earnings amounted to quite a considerable sum in addition If he had been permitted to remain until the close of the spring, he would have netted enough, with what he had already, to make him independent His best friends in London were Mr Charles Reade, Mr Tom Hood, Mr Robertson (the dramatist), Mr Charles Matthew, Mr Tom Taylor and Mr Arthur Sketchly, a popular humorist recently come in vogue He did not meet Mr Dickins, I believe, though Mr Andrew Haliday, Dickens' right hower, was an intimate friend of his He was dreadfully persecuted by lion hunters, and had to keep his lodgings pretty much of a mystery

Charles Atwater Lile a native of Milford, Conn, but a native of Macon, since 1829, died recently and the Macon Messenger says he has left behind a character without a stain and a name without reproach
